Hi Tyler,

On behalf of the over 5,400 members of the Worldwide Employee Relocation Council (Worldwide ERC®), I write to express our gratitude for the decision to let Proclamation 10052 expire. Its expiration will enable employers to continue attracting the foreign talent needed to fill critical skills gaps so that U.S. companies and the workforce can power economic recovery. We thank the President and the Domestic Policy Council for its role in the decision.

Worldwide ERC® represents the people and businesses that facilitate the relocation and movement of talent. Our members include professionals with corporations and service providers across Europe, the Middle East and Africa, Asia and the Americas. Approximately 80 percent of our members are small- to medium-size businesses, and our members come from a diverse range of professions and industries, including human resources, recruiting, military, real estate, financial services, moving, counseling and consulting.

The mobility and relocation of employees across borders is critical to employers' operations as we prioritize a safe return to business and economic recovery. Many employers intend to resume those moves critical to their business as soon as possible as countries and regions around the world slowly begin to reopen. It is for this reason that Worldwide ERC® supported the revocation of both the immigrant and nonimmigrant visa entry bans, and we are again grateful that both have now been lifted.

We look forward to working with you on policies that allow U.S. employers to recruit, hire, retain and relocate the foreign talent that will keep the United States competitive in the global economy. Please do not hesitate to reach out to me if we can be of assistance to you (202-459-3845) | rpeters@worldwideerc.org.

Sincerely,
